About the Author

Myron S. Scholes is the co-managing partner and co-founder of Platinum Grove Asset Management. Professor Scholes is the Frank E. Buck Professor of Finance Emeritus at the Stanford University Graduate School of Business since 1996. Professor Scholes is widely known for his seminal work in options pricing, capital markets, tax policies and the financial services industry. He is co-originator of the Black-Scholes options pricing model, which is the basis of the pricing and risk-management technology that is used to value and to manage the risk of financial instruments around the world. For this work, he was awarded the Alfred Nobel Memorial Prize in Economic Sciences in 1997.

He was the Frank E. Buck Professor of Finance at the Stanford University Graduate School of Business from 1983 to 1996 and a Senior Research Fellow at the Hoover Institution from 1987 to 1996. He received a Ph.D. in 1969 from the University of Chicago where he served as the Edward Eagle Brown Professor of Finance in the Graduate School of Business from 1974 to 1983 and Director of the Center for Research in Security Prices from 1976 to 1983. He was an Assistant and Associate Professor of Finance at Sloan School of Management, MIT, from 1969 to 1974.

Professor Scholes is a member of the Econometric Society and served as President of the American Finance Association in 1990. Professor Scholes has honorary doctorate degrees from the University of Paris, McMaster University, Louvain University and Wilfred Laurier University.

Professor Scholes has consulted widely with many financial institutions, corporations and exchanges. He was a Principal and Limited Partner at Long-Term Capital Management, L.P., an investment management firm, from 1993 to 1998. From 1991 to 1993, he was a Managing Director at Salomon Brothers, a member of Salomon's risk management committee, and Co-Head of its Fixed Income Derivatives Sales and Trading

Department, where he was instrumental in building Salomon Swapco, its derivatives intermediation subsidiary, and in expanding its derivative sales and trading group. He currently serves on the board of the Chicago Mercantile Group, Dimensional Fund Advisors Mutual Funds, and American Century (Mountain View) Mutual Funds.

Mark A. Wolfson is a Founder and Managing Partner of Jasper Ridge Partners, a discretionary asset manager to prominent families, foundations and global institutions. He is also a Senior Advisor of Oak Hill Capital Management, LLC. From 1995 to 2013, Mark was affiliated with the Robert M. Bass/Oak Hill organizations. During his tenure with these organizations, he played key roles in the formation of Jasper Ridge Strategic Partners, Jasper Ridge Diversified and Oak Hill Capital Partners. Mark has served on the Boards of Directors of numerous public and private companies.

Prior to becoming an investment professional, Dr. Wolfson published extensively on subjects ranging from the financial structure of, and incentive arrangements in, business organizations; to taxes and business strategy; to the effect of information disclosures on the valuation of financial claims. He has won research awards in each of these areas. His current interests, in addition to those stated above, include the industrial organization of the global private equity and investment management industries.

Dr. Wolfson holds the title of Consulting Professor at the Stanford Graduate School of Business, where he has been a faculty member since 1977, including a three-year term as Associate Dean, and formerly held the title of Dean Witter Professor. He has also taught at the Harvard Business School and the University of Chicago and has been a Visiting Scholar at the Sloan School of Management at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the Hoover Institution at Stanford University. Dr. Wolfson has been a Research Associate at The National Bureau of Economic Research, serves on the Board of Advisors and Executive Committee of The Stanford Institute for Economic Policy Research, and advises the Investment Committee of the William and Flora Hewlett Foundation.

Merle Erickson is a Professor of Accounting at the Booth School of Business at the University of Chicago where he teaches “Taxes and Business Strategy” in the MBA program. He also teaches a variety of executive education courses dealing with tax planning, financial statement analysis, and GAAP accounting. He received his Ph.D. in 1996 from the University of Arizona and has been at Chicago Booth since then. Professor Erickson’s research focuses on tax and financial accounting related issues in a variety of contexts, and has been published in a number of top journals. He was a co-editor of the Journal of Accounting Research from 2005-2011, and has previously been on the editorial boards of other academic journals. He is the author/editor of Cases in Tax Strategy, and has received national awards for both his teaching and research. Over the course of his career, Erickson has consulted on complex GAAP and tax accounting issues in a variety of contexts (e.g., acquisition, bankruptcy, structured finance, investment planning). His clients have included, among others, the U.S. Department of Justice, the Internal Revenue Service, Fortune 500 companies in various industries, financial institutions including investment banks, law firms, accounting firms, and individual taxpayers. Dense for a layman but extremely worthwhile

By Worthington

I'm only 50 pages in and have already developed two corporate tax savings plans based on data in the book.

Needs better paper.

By intelstudent

Excellent content, however the book paper is so thin you can see the printing on the page underneath or on the backside- which I find very distracting. I prefer paper you can't see thru.
